The oldest hotel in Hvar, framed by the St. Stephens Cathedral on one side and the famous Hvar theatre on the other, Hotel Palace is surrounded by gothic and renaissance architecture. Guest rooms overlook the Piazza, the largest square in Dalmatia, and feature breathtaking views Hvar's bay and the sunsets over the Paklinski islands. While staying at this historic hotel, guests can enjoy a delicious supper and sip cocktails while listening to classical jazz bands on the terrace overlooking the yacht harbor. After the summer season of 2007, Palace's exterior will be preserved and its interior refurbished, reopening for the summer season of 2008 as a five star hotel.
